

MUSIC DEPT. IS VOTED BY LIBRARY BD.

Adams County Free Library directors at their November meeting Friday evening voted to establish a music department with the formation of a circulating collection of gift records to be the first step.

Meeting at the main library on E. High St., the directors made a final, unanimous decision on the question that has been under discussion for months. Formation of the music department had been recommended by a special committee report in September.

Discussion Friday evening indicated that development of the new department will come as facilities and finances are available. The already short-handed staff at the library and financial limitations may delay full development of the new field of service.

New Records On Loans

The library already has a number of gift records and these will form the nucleus for the lending collection for which a small rental will be charged so that there will be money for replacements. Only as more records are donated will the collection grow unless funds not now in sight become available.

The directors, following Friday night's favorable vote, will accept earlier offers of component units of a sound system for the library and cash donations toward cost of installing a listening room at the main library. How soon that phase of the new department will become a reality was not indicated Friday evening.

Reports submitted by Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, the librarian, showed that a new record was set in October for book loans at the main library. The total there was 6,149, the first time any month has seen more than 6,000 loans there. The figure compares with 5,185 in October of last year and 3,907 in October, 1956.

Faced with the choice of cutting service or "cutting corners" because of the need for more help on the staff, Mrs. Wilson said that this month total school circulation was not tabulated but only the number of books left at each school by the bookmobile was counted. She said on the average each book is read by more than five pupils at each school.

To Hear State Official

Mrs. Wilson told the board that, at the December meeting, Ernest E. Doerschuk Jr., state extension librarian, will be present to discuss results of the recent state survey of library service and plans being developed for its improvement. The board discussed proposed legislation to increase state contributions to libraries, based upon major increases in local support.

The appointment of a Legislative committee including Postmaster Jacob G. Applier, Mrs. A. W. Butterfield and Mrs. John S. Rice was announced and President C. P. Keefer said a Public Relations committee will be named with development of a speakers' bureau for the library as one of its suggested functions. Early in the meeting, Prof. Francis Reinberger, a member of the library board and chairman of the special committee that made the September report urging establishment of a music department, was present.

CALL HEARING ON LIGHTS FOR 4 CROSSINGS

The work of a one-man committee from the Hamiltonban Twp. School Board to get light signals at four railroad crossings in the township has led to the setting of November 20 as a hearing date on the matter at the court house here by the state Public Utility Commission.

Lloyd Benner, Fairfield R. D., a member of the Hamiltonban Twp. Board, was told to see "what you can do about it" when the board members considered the danger to school buses and other traffic resulting from the lack of warning signal lights at four spots where roads cross the Western Maryland Railroad in the township.

He contacted Assemblyman Francis Worley and others and now has been notified that the case of Lloyd Benner versus the Western Maryland Railroad and Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been started.

The commission states that "notice is hereby given that a complaint having been filed with the Pennsylvania Utility Commission alleging dangerous conditions existing at the following grade crossings in Hamiltonban Twp. . . . the Commission has fixed Thursday, November 20, 1958, at 10 a.m. in the court house, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, as the time and place for hearing. All parties interested, including the owners of adjacent property, may appear and be heard in person or by counsel."

The grade crossings concerned in the complaint are the places where the tracks of the Western Maryland cross state highway Route 01015 at Greenstone; the crossing of tracks of the railroad over state highway 01016 at Virginia Mills, and the crossings over Route 01015 at Iron Springs and Fairfield Station.

NEED $4,735 TO MAKE GOAL

Gettysburg Community Chest's current campaign to raise $26,800 is 17.8 per cent from its goal.

William Lentz, chairman of the annual fund raising campaign, said today donations so far total $22,075, leaving $4,735 to be raised to complete the campaign. Percentage wise 82.2 per cent of the fund has been raised.

As of the moment, he said, industrial donations and solicitors still unreported from residential areas can "safely be estimated as capable of bringing in perhaps $2,000 more."

Some special activities will be planned in the near future to complete the fund drive, Lentz said.

The money raised by Community Chest provides Gettysburg's share of the support of the Red Cross, Library, YMCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Civic Nursing Association and the Pennsylvania Fund, which includes the USO.

Lentz made another plea that solicitors who have not completed their canvass do so this coming week "so we can tell exactly where we are and make plans for whatever is needed to reach the goal."

DAR SPEAKER IS NATIVE OF HOLLAND

Mrs. R. L. Radsma, a native of Holland and now a resident of Gettysburg, spoke on the history and customs of her mother country at a meeting of Gettysburg Chapter DAR on Friday afternoon at the YWCA.

Beginning with a description of her small, compact homeland, which is about the size of Massachusetts, Mrs. Radsma told of the "winning of the land from the sea" by use of windmills for pumping away the water and the use of dikes which have raised the water level high above the land.

The land reclaimed is extremely fertile so that the raising of fruit and flowers is very profitable with Holland owning one quarter of all the greenhouses in the world.

She characterized the people as calm, complacent and slow to make up their minds but with an intense love of freedom.

Constitutional Monarchy

The speaker termed the government a constitutional monarchy, very democratic, with Queen Juliana reigning "with the people, not over the people."

She paralleled the history of the U. S. and Holland during the 18th century, pointing out the legacies of her country to the U. S. constitutional government as a result of the Pilgrims' stay in Holland.

Recalling that Holland had recognized the independent sovereignty of the U. S. and had advanced financial aid, Mrs. Radsma expressed her country's gratitude for aid after World War II under the Marshall Plan.

BOARD FINDS 192 BALLOTS WERE SPOILED

The ballots of 192 countants were spoiled by their failure to comply with various voting regulations Tuesday, the county election board found Friday afternoon when it made the official count of the votes cast during the election.

Fifty-one persons used check marks to designate their choice for office and as a result the election board had to follow the state laws in the matter and throw out those ballots. Only an "X" in the square is counted.

Forty-four persons left the tabs containing their number on the ballots and thus made it impossible for the election board to count their votes. The election is secret and if the tab is left on the ballot it is possible to determine who cast the ballot, so those with the numbered tabs still on the ballot are not counted.

Four Blank Ballots

Fifty-nine ballots were misused or mismarked. They ranged from one person in Straban Twp. who carefully wrote his name on top of the ballot to persons who apparently liked everyone on the ballot and put an "X" behind them all.

Eight persons changed their minds and erased. An erasure on the ballot cancels it. Persons who make mistakes and want their vote to count are required to obtain a new ballot and mistaken one is destroyed. Six ballots were torn and thus uncountable.

Twenty persons used ink to make their X's and thus voided their ballots. And surprisingly, four persons apparently forgot what they went into the booth for—at least they turned in ballots that were absolutely blank, without a single vote for any candidate.

The election board wonders how voters can miss the wording at the top of the ballot or all the signs put around the election houses that "X's" must be used for voting, that pencils only may be used to mark the ballot and giving other details on how to vote.

MRS. BUSHEY EXPIRES AT 96

She was a member of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Arendtsville.

BIOGRAPHY OF GEN. REYNOLDS IS PUBLISHED

"For God's sake, forward!" was the Civil War slogan of Major General John F. Reynolds of Pennsylvania. Because of it he brought on the crucial battle of that unfortunate conflict: Gettysburg.

This is the summation of the new book, "Biography of General Reynolds," which has been published.

A soldier's soldier, impatient of politicians, Reynolds, a West Pointer with Lee, Sherman and Grant, saw active service in the Mexican War and rose to major general through three bloody and disastrous years of Civil War fighting before he came to the field of Gettysburg.

Stirring Events

The biography, based on his own and his family's papers, brings to life the stirring events he saw and took part in—from the Texas border and the Mexican War to the Civil War itself; turbulent Corpus Christi in 1845, Taylor's invasion across the Rio Grande, army post life in the Far West; the roar of guns at Mechanicsville, Second Bull Run and Chancellorsville; and finally the outcries of frightened Pennsylvanians as Lee and Longstreet swept northward—all these things were part of John Reynolds' days and nights, including a sojourn in Libby Prison.

A fighting officer by temperament, wearied to the bone by the caution of successive superiors and the directives of what he considered a politically motivated War Department in Washington, Reynolds, it now seems certain, was offered command of the Union Army by Lincoln, but refused the offer because Lincoln could not guarantee him freedom of action. Chosen by Meade as commander of the Union left wing in the battle that was to become the turning point of the war, he operated far in advance of Meade's troops and made the conflict inevitable by his personal interpretation of Meade's orders.

Climax At Gettysburg

Seen through his eyes, the whole panorama of the Civil War unfolds again until finally morning dawns at Gettysburg—climax of Reynolds' own life and of the struggle of a nation torn asunder by war.

Edward J. Nichols, author of the book, attended De Pauw University, the University of Chicago and Columbia University. A member of the English department of Pennsylvania State University since 1928, Dr. Nichols has long been a student and scholar of the Civil War. As early as 1928, when he received his doctorate from Pennsylvania State University, he was absorbed in the period, and after writing two novels in the 1940's, he returned to the subject when he began his research on the biography of General John F. Reynolds.

Moon Rocket

back into the atmosphere and burning up from friction.

Scientists had hoped to get today's ill-starred rocket to within 50,000 miles of the moon, and possibly into orbit around it.

Chances Were Dim
Chances of Pioneer II being a success had been rated in advance at less than 1 in 10.

In its announcement, NASA said Pioneer II reached an estimated maximum speed of about 16,000 miles an hour—well below the 23,900 miles an hour scientists said was needed to send a rocket to the region of the moon.

A spokesman said the rocket probably flew slightly less than 45 minutes.

Although Pioneer II apparently failed in its major mission, it rose high enough for the automatic radio signals from the payload to be received for 16 minutes by a tracking station at Jodrell Bank in England. The signals were received between 2:45 and 3:01 a.m.

Minute Behind Schedule
There were several other reports of signals picked up, including one from International Telephone and Telegraph-MacKay Radio at Southampton, N.Y.

Rain had fallen on the launching site Friday, but the night was relatively clear when Pioneer II blasted off about one minute behind schedule.

To thousands of observers on the beaches along the Florida east coast and to scores of newsmen watching from a vantage point 1¼ miles from the launching site, the firing appeared normal. But the missile's action shortly afterward caused doubts.

See Burst Of Flame
The rocket climbed through some clouds and reappeared about two minutes after launching.

It was then that a burst of flame could be seen. Some observers said it appeared to them that the rocket was breaking apart.

However, Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, test station commander here, announced:

"The second and third stages of the U.S. three-stage experimental space vehicle launched at the Atlantic missile range at Cape Canaveral at 2:30 a.m. EST today have been fired successfully."

"The launching of the experimental space probe vehicle has now been accomplished."

Shortly afterward, the Air Force had to back-track.

"Did Not Ignite"
It announced that "Doppler velocity indications are that the third stage did not ignite."

The Doppler radio device that was aboard the rocket is a system by which signals from the ground to the rocket, and return signals, indicate speeds at a given moment.

Later, a spokesman for NASA, which has over-all direction of the moonshot experiments, said first and second stage operation was normal and "velocity was as planned."

The spokesman said separation of the third stage from the second stage and the payload was achieved but that data indicated "no velocity gain by the third stage."

Crude Pictures
The 26.3 pounds of instruments aboard the rocket included an infrared scanning device to enable the probe to get crude pictures of the far side of the moon and relay its impressions back to earth—provided it had attained a lunar orbit.

The trip to the moon would have taken 2.6 days, or until next Monday afternoon.

Also aboard the space probe were four devices contained in Pioneer I. The probe was sterilized to avoid contaminating the moon, on the remote chance it might have hit there.

In addition, the space vehicle contained an instrument to count cosmic rays.

Standard devices in the lunar probe were an instrument to record magnetic fields of the earth and the moon, one to measure impacts by micrometeorites, one to determine the extent of dead-radiation in space.

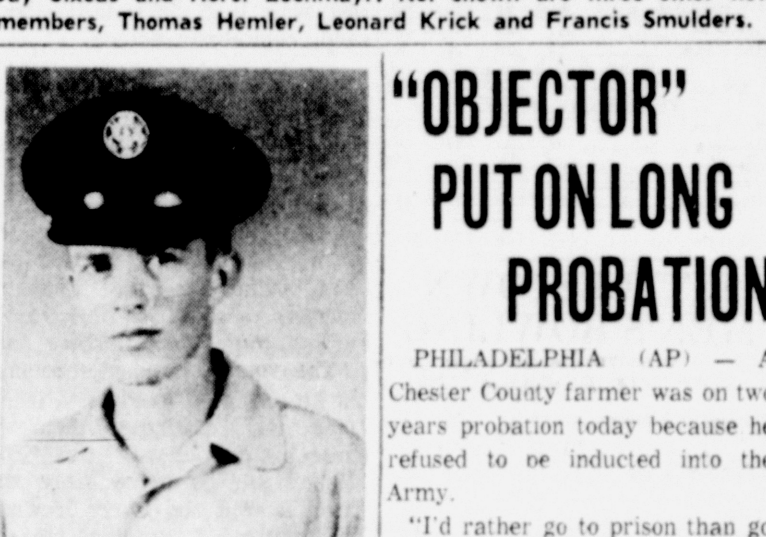

Of the 61 football players on the University of Oklahoma team this year, 42 were captains of high school teams.

RED BOMB TEST SHOCKS WORLD

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Word that Russia has fired two new nuclear test shots touched off speculation here today that the disarmament issue will soon land back in the General Assembly's lap.

Diplomats were plunged in gloom by the new tests. Delegates felt the turn of events menaced the future of the Big Three Geneva negotiations which are not going too well anyway. The parley is supposed to seek East-West agreement on a supervised ban on tests and report back to the General Assembly.

There appeared no immediate move to bring Russia's new testing before the Assembly. Secretary of State Dulles indicated in Washington that the United States does not plan to seek U.N. condemnation of the Soviets at this stage.

If all three big powers resume testing, diplomats fear it will bring the Geneva talks to a speedy close and toss the issue back to the Assembly.

Delegates admit that Russia has no legal obligation to refrain from testing, but many consider it an act of bad faith to do so while the Geneva parley is in progress.

All the residents of the building were evacuated without mishap. None was injured.

Firemen battled the blaze for three hours.

Art Week Promoter Here Has Wide Experience As Illustrator And Designer: National Art Week, being celebrated this week, has been promoted locally by a Hunterstown man who is one of the outstanding artists in the country. The Hunterstown resident, Frederick J. Kurtz, is committee chairman for a district including Gettysburg, Littlestown, Waynesboro, Carlisle, Camp Hill and Lewisburg and he could put on a good display throughout the section with his own paintings alone—if they could be secured from their owners for display here. One of several artists who have made Adams County their home, Kurtz laid the foundation for his career at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, studying there from 1897 to 1899.

Since that time he has served as an illustrator and correspondent for the British Times in Hanover, China, and in Bombay, India, and for the Associated Press in Constantinople. Now living on a one-acre farm near Hunterstown Kurtz's income is derived from the sales of paintings to private customers and two New York art agencies. He also commercially invents designs for stained glass, wall paper and textiles.

Today's Talk

A LOVE OF BEAUTY
I believe that a love of beauty is born in us all to some degree. I can't help but believe this is true, for everything in Nature is beautiful. Nature has long been a life study by many, and the entire world bows in appreciation. No matter where one goes on this globe, there he will find beauty sufficient to satisfy the hungriest lover of what this world has to offer.

Nature is full of miraculous designs that man has copied over and over again. My home grounds are a riot of color now. Art and beauty of every description. I now fill my hands with leaves and am left in a state of wonder. How did these autumn colors? Hold a fallen maple leaf to the light and note what a perfect piece of art and beauty it is. The circulation of life to the minutest corner of these leaves should be sufficient to fortify the faith of us all.

God's trees had to be supported by these leaves, which give them life, and we easily remain in a state of wonder whenever we touch anything that grows, or moves, in Nature. A child is quick to make a mental note of color, even though we know we are ignorant of the thoughts that romp in a child's brain. How sensitive each one of us is toward all beauty, and all creation, anyway!

Many of the tiniest flowers, that grow in hidden places, rarely known but by experts, when put under a microscope, reveal an art design that is unbelievable. It also calls our attention to the fact that God created everything where!

Just Folks

THOSE WHO LOVE US
If those who love us find us true
And kind and gentle, and are glad
When each grim working day is through
To have us near them, why be sad?

IF THOSE WHO KNOW US BEST REJOICE
In what we are and hold us dear,
What matter if the stranger's voice
Shall speak the bitter jibe and jeer?

IF THOSE WHO CLING TO US STILL SMILE,
Though grim misfortune has us down,
If they still think our work worth while,
What matters it if strangers frown?

Great Conewago Notes

By B. F. M. MacPherson

According to the records of the Presbytery of Donegal the Rev. Samuel Thompson became the first "settled" minister of Great Conewago Presbyterian church late in 1749. Previous to that he had served Upper Pennsborough or Meeting House Springs but his relationship to that congregation was dissolved on November 14, 1749. At Great Conewago he continued to labor for at least thirty years, resigning the charge in 1779 because of the infirmities of age. He died at his home in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, on April 29, 1787, and is buried in an unmarked grave in Great Conewago Cemetery.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson was a pioneer minister in the truest sense. Before coming to Great Conewago he was the first resident pastor at Upper and Lower Pennsborough Presbyteries. He was minister there for ten years, during which time, on various grounds, he was subject to quite a good few "painful trials." Charges of indiscretion, prevarication, and immorality were preferred against him. One Presbyterian historian states that, at one time, he was suspended but subsequently restored. Presbytery records that "... his comfort and usefulness were so impaired by his own course and that of the people that he felt constrained to seek a dissolution of his pastoral relation to Upper Pennsborough." This request the Presbytery thought it best to grant.

Educated In England

The only son of the Rev. Samuel Thompson was educated in England and became a priest in the Church of England (Episcopal) and as the Rev. Father William Thompson returned to America to labor on the Pennsylvania frontier. He, the Rev. Fr. William Thompson, was married to Susanna Ross, sister of George Ross, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. As stated in a previous column many of the early members of the Rev. Fr. Thompson's family are buried in the "Vicar's Vault" under the high altar of St. John's Episcopal Church, Carlisle, Pa. An old family record states that the following members of the family were thus interred:—

1. The Rev. Father William Thompson.
2. Miss Susanna, daughter of the late Parson Thompson, died October 12, 1792, in the 19th year of her age, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

3. "Jean, daughter of the late Rev. Mr. Thompson, died November 10, 1796, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Buried in the family vault in the church."

4. "Gitty (Kitty), daughter of the late Rev. Thompson, died January 26, 1800, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania."

5. "Mrs. Susanna, widow of the late Parson Thompson, died March 1, 1801, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, in the 64th year of her age."

Pastor Resigns

"Mrs. Elizabeth Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Susanna Thompson, and widow of Dr. Henry Peterson, of Delaware, died June 24, 1797, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania."

After the resignation of the Rev. Samuel Thompson Great Conewago Presbyterian Church was without a minister for more than a year. In 1780 the Rev. Joseph Henderson, a young man just out of seminary, was called. He accepted the charge but it was not until June 20, 1781, that he was ordained and installed Mr. Henderson, after a most successful ministry of fifteen years, resigned in 1795.

The Rev. Joseph Henderson was "received" by the Presbytery of Donegal on June 17, 1779. In 1786 the Presbytery of Carlisle was formed from part of the Presbytery of Donegal and on May 22, 1786, the Rev. Henderson was "dismissed" to the new Presbytery of which Great Conewago Presbyterian Church became a part. Finally, on May 20, 1794, Mr. Henderson was transferred to the Presbytery of Huntingdon. His second charge was apparently located at Armstrong, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, for he states that to be his place of residence in a deed, signed by him and his wife, Elizabeth (Dichson) Henderson, on March 23, 1801.

The Presbytery of Donegal, to which Great Conewago Church owes its existence, was erected by the Synod of Philadelphia in May, 1732. The following is the record:—"It being understood by the Committee of Overtures that an erection of a new Presbytery in Lancaster County should be appointed by the synod, it was voted by a great majority that Messrs. Anderson, Thomson, Boyd, Orr and Bertram be members of a Presbytery by the name of Donegal Presbytery."

The territory covered by the new Presbytery was what was then known as Lancaster County, which had been erected three years before in 1729. Its boundaries were fixed as follows:—"All and singular the lands within the Province of Pennsylvania lying to the northward of Octorara Creek and to the westward of a line of marked trees, running from the north branch of said Octorara Creek northward to the river Schuylkill, be created into a county, and the same is hereby created into a county, named and from henceforth to be called Lancaster County."

caster County." A vast territory, much of it wilderness, to be covered by the five pioneer ministers mentioned above, in their visits to the scattered settlements included therein.

When the Presbytery of Donegal was formed there were no regularly organized churches in that part of it which afterwards formed the Presbytery of Carlisle, of which Great Conewago Church is now a member. There were, however, two congregations, Derry and Paxton—in which the people "associated" themselves together for worship. It is probable that the Derry congregation had enjoyed "preaching services" from 1725 onward. The Rev. James Anderson, who was installed pastor of "Dunningall" (Donegal) Church in August, 1727, gave every fifth Sabbath "to the people of Swatara" from September, 1729, until the Rev. William Bertram was called to Derry and Paxton in 1732.

Organize Churches

The following churches were organized prior to the Old and New Side Division of 1741. To the east of the Susquehanna River—in 1733 Derry and Paxton; in 1736 Manada (afterwards known as Hanover), and Conewago. The Conewago Church here mentioned is often confused with the Great Conewago Church at Hunterstown, in what is now Adams County. The Conewago Church mentioned above, however, was located on or near the Little Conewago Creek not far from Middletown, and is sometimes designated in the records of Presbytery, as "Conewago, this side of the river."

West of the Susquehanna, during the same period, ten churches were organized. At a meeting of Presbytery on October 16, 1734, it "ordered Mr. Alexander Creagh to supply over the river two or three Sabbaths in November." At the April meeting of 1735 a "Supplication" from the "settlement over the river, desiring supplies, was presented." Presbytery appointed Mr. Alexander Craighead "to supply the said people the next two Sabbaths and Mr. Thomson to supply at least two Sabbaths before the next meeting of Presbytery." Thus far no mention is made of any particular locality.

"People Over The River"

When the Presbytery met in September, 1735, the "people over the river" are also called "the people of the Conodoguinet." This may designate the present Silvers Spring Church or the old church that once stood at Meeting House Springs, now the First Presbyterian Church of Carlisle. Both were organized in 1736. In 1737 Hopewell (now known as Big Spring Presbyterian Church), East Conococheague (now Greensburg), and Falling Springs Church were recognized as congregations. Two years later (1738) Upper West Conococheague (Mercesburg) came into being. In 1739 Rocky Spring and Middle Spring were recognized as organized units. Finally in 1740 Upper Marsh Creek (now Gettysburg) Presbyterian Church and Great their existence.

Organize 14 Churches

During a period of nine years, as the record testifies, fourteen churches were organized. What is more remarkable, all of them, with the exception of Hanover and Conewago, "this side of the river," are still in existence. The pioneer churchmen laid a firm foundation.

A fairly reliable tradition states that the first log meeting house was erected by the Great Conewago congregation in 1740. As late as 1829 the stone foundation of this primitive edifice could still be seen within the limits of the present burial ground. Locating the church at this point was not accomplished without opposition. A part of the congregation lived in the neighborhood of Round Hill and they objected, as they had a perfect right to do, to the location which was chosen. These notes on Great Conewago Church will be concluded next week.

Carlisle Edges Warriors 13-6 To Near SP Title; GHS Puts Up Fine Scrap

The Gettysburg High School Warriors packed one tremendous wallop in their punch at the Thundering Herd of Carlisle High School in the South Penn Circuit, but it wasn't quite enough as the Herd took a close 13-6 decision Friday night on the Carlisle gridiron before a crowd of 3,600 fans.

Coach Ben Jones' outfit took over complete command of the initial frame and tallied its lone touchdown. After Gettysburg received the opening kickoff and moved the ball from their own 37-yard line to the 40, Bob Furney was forced to quick-kick giving Carlisle possession of the ball on their own 15. On the first play from scrimmage, Elmer Hodge, Carlisle halfback, fumbled on the 15 and Bill Rentzel pounced on the ball for the Warriors.

Furney Crashes Over
Tom Crist was dropped for a two-yard loss, but Furney followed with three yards and with the help of eight more by Crist around right end and Hardy Nichols' keeper play of three, Gettysburg had a first down on the Carlisle 3. Crist went off left guard for one yard and on the next play Furney crashed over from the two. Furney's attempt for the placement went off to the left and Gettysburg led 6-0 with 8:23 minutes still remaining in the first quarter.

The Jones-men controlled the ball during the remainder of the stanza as they went on to move from their own 25 to the home team's 13 on four consecutive first downs. Gettysburg was able to move through the Herd's line with ease, but then began to find trouble later in the ball game.

Carlisle took over on their 13 to open the second quarter of play. On a sustained drive of 47 yards, Coach Ken Miller's gridders moved downfield for their first score. The drive was led by the fine ball-handling of quarterback Dick Eckert and outside running of Lee Bowermaster. With the ball on the Gettysburg six-yard line, Hodge went off tackle for four yards and Larry Shearer followed with the remaining two yards for the TD. Dennis Chronister's placement attempt was wide to the right and at the end of the first half the score was knotted at 6-6.

GHS Line Holds
The strong defensive team of the Warriors was called upon for extra duty in the third frame when the Herd began another stampede. Carlisle had moved the ball to the visitors seven-yard line with a first down and made things look low for the Battlefields.

Shearer and Eckert carried the pigskin to approximately six inches from the Gettysburg goal line with fourth down. As Eckert elected to run with the ball Ron Sprinkle, a solid pillar in the Warrior forward wall, crashed through and tossed the ball carrier for a four-yard loss to climax an outstanding goal-line stand.

Later in the third frame Carlisle came up with its game-winning score. The home team had taken possession on the Warriors' 33 following a Furney quick-kick. On four plays and two first downs, Eckert, Shearer and Bowermaster had moved the ball to the Gettysburg 10. From that point, with 45 seconds remaining in the quarter, Elmer Hodge skirted left end and went into the end zone standing up. This time Chronister split the uprights for the extra point.

The strong, powerful line of the Warriors composed of Rentzel, Goldsmith, Sprinkle, Kimple and Nelson held the Herd on their own eight-yard line once again in the fourth period to stop another threat. Bill Rentzel and Ron Sprinkle were the two standouts as they injected the needed spirit into the line while Bob Furney stopped anything that got by the ends.

The fine ball handling of Junior quarterback Hardy Nichols and the power of Junior fullback Bob Furney gave the Warriors their Ronnie Crouse and Jesse Sheely, a pair of backs on the Littlestown High School football squad, were elected captain and co-captain, respectively, by the Thunderbolt squad Friday. They captained their team against Biglerville Friday night.

Both are seniors. Crouse, 170, has been the leading ground-gainer for Littlestown while Sheely, 150, has been labeled as one of the hardest workers on the squad. In addition to football, Crouse has lettered in basketball and baseball. Sheely is also a basketball letterman.

Adams County Farm & Building

Penna. Livestock Show To Open Big Week At State Farm Show Building Nov. 10

HARRISBURG — Five great attractions with appeal to both city and rural people will be held in the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building in Harrisburg November 10 through 16.

They are the Pennsylvania National Livestock Exposition, an Armed Forces Show, the 1958 National Southdown Breeders' Association Show, the first Mid-Atlantic Truck Show and World Championship Rodeo.

All events are free, except for rodeo performances, and no admission or ticket is required for entry into any of the show areas.

2,894 Animals
Designed to advance the livestock industry and all Pennsylvania agriculture, the "Keystone International Exposition" will have 2,894 animals in competition. Throughout the Armed Forces Show, Seaman Raymond L. Kropp, Harrisburg, a crewman in the USS Nautilus during her historic submerged voyage under the polar icecap, will be stationed beside an eight-foot model of Nautilus.

Granted leave by the Navy to attend the Armed Forces Show in his home town, Kropp will describe his sub-polar experiences to visitors and answer questions about the pioneer voyage and the nuclear powered submarine.

All Of U. S. There
Motor truck manufacturers from all sections of the United States will be represented in the Truck Show. Coming close on the heels of the unveiling of 1959 models, the show will feature some of the latest offerings of the trucking industry with emphasis on farm trucks and trucking needs.

Entire total 109 head of rams and ewes in the National Southdown Show. Opening at 1 p.m., Tuesday, November 11, the show will draw from outstanding flocks throughout the United States.

Dale Robertson, star of "Tales of Wells Fargo," is the headliner for the Rodeo. Some 200 cowboys will go through their paces in seven performances.

List Show Hours
Times for the shows are as follows:

Livestock Exposition — opens at 8 a.m. Monday, November 10, closes at 8 p.m., Friday, November 14.

Armed Forces Show — opens at noon Monday, November 10, closes at midnight, Saturday, Nov. ember 15.

Mid-Atlantic National Truck Show — opens at noon, Monday, November 10, closes at midnight, Saturday, November 15.
World Championship Rodeo — first performance, Tuesday afternoon, November 11, final performance, Saturday, November 15.

All the events are sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock and Allied Industries Association, Inc., with the cooperation of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Out of nearly $80,000 to be offered in cash premiums and special awards, the department has allocated $50,000 appropriated by the General Assembly for the advancement of Pennsylvania agriculture through such an exposition.

Pennsylvania breeders and stockmen, 233 of them, lead a list of nearly 400 exhibitors showing livestock. Including the Commonwealth, there will be 22 states and Province of Ontario represented.

In charge of beef cattle at the exposition will be Professor Herman Purdy of Penn State. Others working in the cattle department are Fred Smalstig, Evans City, R. 2, Shorthorn; Dr. J. K. Knisley, New Paris, Polled Hereford; Alex Lindsay, Freeport, Hereford; John Wood, Allentown, Angus; and Glenn Kean, State College, fat steers.

Dale Ritter, Harrisburg, will be in charge of the swine department; Raymond Henderson, Hickory, sheep; Tom King, State College, rightside and barn; John B. McCool, Harrisburg, scheduling committee. Herman Purdy heads the livestock health committee.

BOY IS STRANGLED
MEXICO, Pa. (AP) — Barry James Groninger, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Groninger, was accidentally killed while playing in the basement of his home in this Juniata County town Thursday.

Dr. Edward Sausser said the boy fell from a two-foot-high toy box and was strangled by a loop in a temporary plastic clothes line in the cellar.

OUTSPOKEN
MEXICO CITY (AP) — One restaurant in this capital is refreshingly frank. It advertises in a tourist magazine that it caters exclusively to "traditional Mexican food, service and atmosphere" and then adds: "Very expensive. Reservations advisable."

A new launch stand at Cape Canaveral, Fla. makes possible to fire future satellite rockets in winds up to 38 mph velocity. This is about twice the velocity of those that previously could be cleared.

The Weeders Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — (AP) After the last deciduous sapling or shrub has been planted, after the last dead stalk of last summer's zinnias has been pulled from the flower bed and added to the swollen compost heap, after the last leaf has been raked from the lawn, comes the end of the outdoor gardening season and the beginning of the indoor gardening season.

And most of us move from one stage to the other by way of our garage or cellar, pausing for a week end enroute for a strenuous and fussy job: winterizing the this project leads one to do a complete cleaning job of the area. In fact, I know one gardener who spent a half hour cleaning his power mower in the basement and spent the rest of the winter weekends painting the whole cellar and building shelves on two walls. This is a warning.

Prepare For Storage
The best way to prepare the power mower for winter storage is, first, to read carefully the instructions contained in the service manual which came with it and follow them implicitly. If you've lost the handbook, ask an expert. Generally speaking, the job involves draining the machine's crankcase of oil, emptying and cleaning out the gasoline tank, removing the sparkplug and pouring a bit of oil into the hole and replacing the plug — unconnected.

The mower should be clean of grass and dirt and metal parts should be covered with a light film of oil or vaseline to prevent rust. To preserve the rubber tires, store it on wooden blocks that raise the machine off the floor, and cover the whole thing with a poncho, a sheet or some such. Well in advance of the beginning of the gardening season, have the mower put into working condition: blades sharpened and motor tuned up.

Clean Sprayer
More fussy and time consuming than the mower job, however, is giving the sprayer a thorough cleaning before storing. The apparatus should be completely disassembled. Clean out the tank by filling it with warm water to which is added about half a cup of trisodium phosphate per pail of water. Clean the smaller metal parts by dropping them into a jar of kerosene. I use a length of wire, made by straightening out a metal clothes hanger, to clean out the metal rods and then further clean them with kerosene. Protected by rubber gloves, I scrub out the tank carefully and rinse it out a couple of times with clean water. I scrub the metal parts with smaller brushes and wipe them clean. The rubber hose is cleaned by pouring a solution of vinegar through a few times — followed by a flush with water.

Guard Against Loss
Store for the winter still disassembled (put the small metal parts in a bag so none is lost) and be careful to hand the rubber hoses over a broad, wooden surface, because a sharp metal hanger may cause it to break. If a sprayer has been used for weed killing, label it carefully, so that it can never be used for any

Here's the Answer

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press
QUESTION: We are getting ready to redecorate our dining room. We want to change the color of the walls but do not want to go to the bother of removing the wallpaper. Can we paint right over it?

ANSWER: You can get good results painting over wallpaper only if the paper is well bonded to the wall. If the paper is bulging or blistering in spots, you are in for trouble. Should you decide the wallpaper is in good enough condition for painting, the next step is to find out whether the paper contains metallic inks or special colors that might bleed through the paint. To test it, select an inconspicuous corner or spot and paint it. After it has dried for several hours, or overnight, see whether any part of the pattern is visible. If it is, you will have to seal in the colors with shellac, aluminum primer or one of the ready-made primer sealers. The painting can be done after the sealer is thoroughly dry. One thing you must remember about painting wallpaper: should you decide at some later date to remove the paper, it will be a hard job than if it were not painted.

QUESTION: Every time I read about making mortar or concrete, the directions call for the use of Portland cement. Why is this particular brand always recommended?

ANSWER: The word Portland refers to a type of cement and not to a brand. Portland cement is the common, gray cement used throughout the United States other purpose.

Store the garden hose carefully, empty of water, coiled and try to keep it in a place where it is not subject to violent changes of weather.

Cleaning the garden hand tools involves primarily a couple of pails of water to clean off dirt. I usually sharpen the cutting edges at this time, straighten bent tines (a length of metal pipe makes this easy) and sandpaper off rough spots on wooden handles. I wax the handles and rub oil or vaseline on metal parts to prevent rust.

and in many other parts of the world. It is manufactured by many different companies both here and abroad. When it was first made, along about 1850, it looked so much like the limestone from the Isle of Portland, England, that it quickly got the designation Portland cement.

QUESTION: I recently did some plastering of a wall that was in pretty bad shape. Most of the job came out all right, but there are a few small soft, chalky spots. What causes this and how can it be corrected?

ANSWER: This condition is known as dry-out. It usually occurs when the plastering is done in very hot, very dry weather and the plaster is not kept damp enough during its setting. Wet the affected areas with a mixture of a teaspoon of zinc sulphate in a quart of water. Follow that by spraying with water.

Question: We plan to put up birch plywood on one wall of our living room. It is our intention to attach furring strips to the wall and then nail the plywood to the furring strips. The wall, which is plaster, is painted. Is it necessary to remove the paint or do anything to it before attaching the furring strips?

ANSWER: You need to do nothing to the wall before putting up the furring strips. This would be true only if attaching the furring strips and plywood to a concrete wall below grade, in which case treatment of the concrete is sometimes advisable.

Question: In using penetrating seal on a newly sanded floor, can the floor be used the following day if the last coat is put on at night?

ANSWER: Most penetrating sealers dry fairly fast, so the general answer to your question would be yes. However, to be doubly certain, buy one of the sealers which dries extra fast, in a couple of hours at most. Then apply it at night — and it will be ready for use the next morning.

Question: Over the years we have used, at one time or another, just about every type and brand of floor wax on the market. Is there any real difference between the paste wax and the no-rubbing liquid wax as far as affecting the wear of the floor is concerned?

ANSWER: The manufacturers of each type of wax claim superior qualities for it. Generally speaking, paste waxes give a higher gloss and will stand up a bit better. The advantages of no-rubbing wax are that it is easier

CATHEDRAL RISES FROM WAR'S RUINS

By MARIO ROXAS

MANILA (AP)—A modern cathedral has risen from the same hallowed spot where, four centuries ago, a small wooden church served as the first seat of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the Philippines.

The new cathedral—built mainly from money and material contributed by Catholics in Japan, the United States, Spain, and the Philippines—will cost an estimated $1,850,000 when finished.

It is being built on the ruins of its predecessor, which was destroyed by American artillery shells and bombs during the liberation of Manila in 1945.

To Inter Archbishops

Dedication will be Dec. 8, Feast of the Immaculate Conception. The Instituto Internazionale di Arte Liturgica of Rome designed the interior of the church, which will have a crypt below the main altar to serve as a tomb for archbishops of Manila.

The bodies of the last two archbishops of Manila, Msgr. Michael J. O'Doherty, an Irishman, and Msgr. Gabriel Reyes, a Filipino, will be the first interred in the crypt.

Marble used in the interior of the cathedral came from Italy.

Japanese Catholics, through the initiative of Gov. Iwataro Uchiyama of Kanagawa prefecture, to apply and usually is not as slippery. You did not mention what type of floor you use the wax on. That is important. On asphalt tile, for instance, paste wax is not recommended, since the ingredients in it may cause damage to the tile. On all kinds of resilient tiles, you should follow the recommendation of the manufacturer on what type of wax to use.

Questions of general interest sent to Mr. Lang in care of this newspaper will be answered in this column. Individual correspondence cannot be undertaken.

donated 60,000 bags of cement worth $100,000.

Japanese Ambassador and Mrs. Morio Yukawa, who are Catholics, led the Japanese community in Manila in raising $850 for rehabilitation of the cathedral.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan also gave $500 for the reconstruction fund when he paid a state visit to Manila last December.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain contributed $50,000.

The United States government, through its War Damage Commission, gave more than $50,000.

The Manila Cathedral is located in "Intramuros," which, literally translated, means "inside the walls." Only portions of the historic stone walls, which surrounded the site where the Spaniards founded the first city of Manila in 1571, survived American artillery shells and bombs in 1945.

Some Repair Shops On Farms Lack Many Essential Tools, Says Frank S. Zettle, Agent

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Some farm shops fall just short of meeting the needs of the modern mechanized farm.

For want of a drill, a screw extractor, a vise-grip pliers or suitable wrenches a repair job is held up and a time-wasting trip to town is necessary.

Easily the most popular tool in the farm shop is the portable electric drill. To make it even more versatile a bench stand is often added.

The abrasive wheel grinder is next in popularity and usefulness. Those familiar with farm jobs prefer a belt grinder to the type carrying the wheels on a motor shaft. The bulky motor is often in the way, particularly for jobs such as sickle grinding and straight edge work.

A complete set of box or socket wrenches up to a least one inch in size is a worthy investment. A ratchet handle adds convenience.

Acetylene Torch

An acetylene torch for soldering, brazing and light heating jobs beats the old soldering iron. Oxy-acetylene or electric welders make possible innumerable repair and construction jobs, often repaying their cost in saving time and wages during machinery breakdowns.

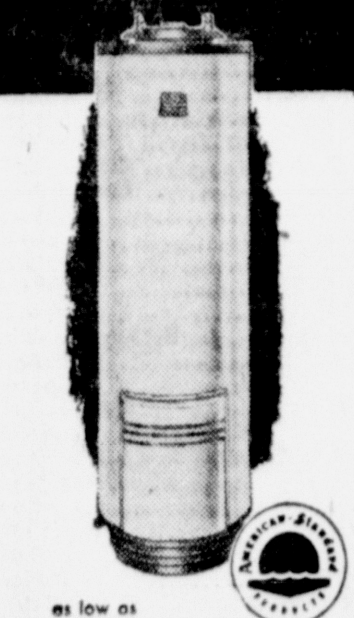

Also, an assortment of hammers, twist drills, files, punches, chisels and pliers is necessary for efficient work and represents only a moderate investment.

Woodworking tools complement the metal handling equipment.

DID YOU KNOW . . . more than eleven million consumers in Pennsylvania buy more than five billion dollars worth of farm-produced items each year? This is one of the best markets in the world. Even more important, it's a growing market, what with more people with rising incomes.

living here in the years ahead. Estimates show food sales to consumers will increase by one-third to one-half within the next ten years.

Supplying Market

Supplying this growing market with food and fiber is our biggest and most important business. It's the business of agriculture that supplies consumers their food, fiber, and shelter. It offers countless opportunities to investors, and provides a growing market for those who sell goods and services.

National Farm-City Week, celebrated November 21-27 is a symbol of the growing interdependence between agriculture and industry. We're all members of the agricultural business team as farmers, processors, wholesalers, retailers, and consumers. It's a growing team, with a great record of achievement, and a bright future. To the economy of Pennsylvania, agriculture means jobs, payrolls, investment opportunities, and a rising level of living.

Farm-City Week serves as a symbol of the greatest achievement of free enterprise and capitalism. The production, marketing, and consumption of agricultural items involve every one of us . . . you and me . . . and is our greatest success story . . . a story worth telling not only during Farm-City Week, but throughout the year. Farm-City Week, November 21-27, is a symbol of our way of life.

Care In Butchering

Modern methods in farming have not eliminated the traditional practice of farm butchering. Nor have they removed the hazards which frequently result in accidents during the butchering operation. Observe the simple rules of safety and avoid the usual run of accidents during the coming butchering season.

One of the greatest causes of injuries is falls due to slippery footing. Remove ice and sprinkle ashes on the ground where butchering operations are to take place. If the job is done indoors, sand, sawdust, or crushed rock salt helps the footing.

Check hoists to be certain they will sustain the weight that is to be placed on them. Avoid weak ropes, worn pulleys and rotten tree limbs.

Ten Suggestions

These ten suggestions are offered to make butchering operations safe:

1. Keep all butchering knives in a knife rack when not in use.
2. Keep knives sharp and handles in good condition.
3. Observe all the ordinary precautions with firearms used for stunning the animal. Keep them unloaded when not in use.
4. Use a tamper to force meat into the meat grinder.
5. Keep children away from all butchering operations.
6. Clean or mop up all grease from floors immediately.
7. Use extreme care in handling the scalding water.
8. Whet knives away from the body.
9. Avoid strain from overlifting.
10. Always cut or chop away from body.

A hospital spokesman said the 81-year-old ex-actress was up and around in her room. "Considering her age," the spokesman said, "I'd say she's doing marvelously."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harry R. (Tim) Moore, 70, the Kingfish of the Amos 'n Andy radio and television shows, is in General Hospital for diagnosis of a serious illness. What it is hasn't been learned.

Today's Home of the Week presentation, the "Karyl" is ideal for the young married family who may be planning a family in future years. It is neat and compact all on one floor, but allows for two upstairs bedrooms that may be finished now or at a later time if the need arises.

The Outside of the "Karyl" may be all shingle or clapboard, or it may be a combination with stone or brick as illustrated. By using both clapboard and stone a distinctive outside appearance results that will win many nods of approval.

The "Karyl" presents a pleasant exterior. It smart lines and compact layout will appeal to the prospective home builder at first sight. The off-center entrance girded by a stone wall planter is unusual and effective. Inside there is a room vestibule and convenient closet. Immediately to the right of the hall lies the large living room. Its entrance would take the form of an archway rather than a door. This would afford a view of the hall as well as the dining room across the hall and the stairs. This effect would magnify the already generous proportions, 13'6" x 21', of the living room. A handsome, wellbuilt fireplace faces the entrance. Special attention should be given to its design and materials because of its lovely position which will command and captivate the eye.

A picture window flanked by two smaller windows is located on the front-facing wall of the living room. There is a good deal of wall space and the living room of the "Karyl" will lend itself to imaginative decoration.

Convenience Of

Dining Room And Dinette
Directly across the hall from the living room is the dining room. It is of good size measuring eleven feet by thirteen feet and is light, cheerful and airy. For more informal dining, the dinette is the perfect answer. The room is compact, yet not cramped. It measures eight feet, six inches by nine feet and within the immediate area of the table are located three large windows making the dinette one of the most pleasant rooms in the house.

The kitchen provides a substantial amount of counter space and easy accessibility to the utilities. Its dimensions are nine feet by thirteen feet and within its area are housed, in addition to the large broom closet and the counters, a large quantity of cabinet space. Two good-sized windows will make kitchen chores seem much easier.

The breezeway, if closed in, will serve as a pleasant extra "casual" room, and if left open, an airy porch for the summer weather. Its dimensions are far from skimpy, measuring 10 feet by 12 feet and it is conveniently located between the garage and the dinette. The garage, in the plans, will house one car but could be easily converted into a two-car garage.

One Or Four Bedrooms

The "Karyl" will have one, two, three, or four bedrooms as the owner wishes. The front room on the first floor, measures twelve feet, six inches by thirteen feet is an ideal master bedroom with four windows. There is a back room measuring twelve feet by twelve feet that will serve well as either a bedroom, den, library or family room if desired. It has one large closet, and again generous window allowances. The main bathroom is located in the rear of the house and features ample linen storage space.

Optional Second Floor

When the second floor is finished off in the "Karyl" two more bedrooms and a bathroom would be gained. This floor might serve as the children's "dormitory." The rooms are identical in size, each measures eleven feet, four inches by twelve feet, eight inches. The bathroom is large and again is equipped with ample linen storage area. Its location, directly over the bathroom on the main floor, will make plumbing less costly for the budget minded. Six additional closets are an additional advantage in completing the second floor. There are in all thirteen closets in the "Karyl" a feature few homes will offer.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans for the "Karyl" and other houses in this series are available. Send requests for the house desired to: Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. 8, 37 Weybosset St., Providence 3, R. I. Plans will be sent C.O.D. A complete Home Owner's kit and Contractor's kit will be included at no extra cost.

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

FOUR NUCLEAR SHOTS REVEAL VALUED DATA

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The last four nuclear shots fired at the Nevada test site in October gave scientists the knowhow for landscaping the earth safely with atomic explosives, says one of the researchers.

From measurement of the blast effects, all of which were underground, the observers learned just how strong the explosions can be at given depths without breaking through the surface and spewing out radioactive particles, he reported.

The calculations yielded a formula called scaled depth. It can indicate the amount of explosive to use and the depth it must be buried to create a new harbor in Alaska or loosen five million tons of rock or ore.

The formula was given in a paper before the National Academy of Sciences Friday by Dr. Gerald W. Johnson, of the University of California's thermonuclear laboratory at Livermore. Dr. Johnson was one of the observers at the test site.

Reveal New Data

From the Rainier shot, fired in Nevada before the October operations, the experimenters got the beginning of the formula. The Rainier explosion had been set at a scale depth of 670 feet. It yielded information, Dr. Johnson said, that it could have been set off safely at a scale depth of 450 feet.

The four shots in October varied in strength. The smallest, Dr. Johnson reported, was equivalent 100 tons of TNT and the heaviest to more than 20,000 tons. Their scaled depths, he added, ranged from 200 feet to 770 feet.

A 20,000-ton blast, Dr. Johnson said, will break up four to five million tons of rock.

If excavation with thermonuclear energy becomes feasible, Dr. Johnson reported, harbors, canals, dams, lakes and other massive features of the earth's surface can be created or changed with a few explosions.

ADOPT NEW WAGE SCALE JANUARY 1

HARRISBURG (AP)—A new minimum wage scale will go into effect Jan. 1 for women and minors employed in Pennsylvania restaurants, motels and hotels.

The new order, signed Friday, affects some 75,000 persons employed in those industries.

For employees in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties and all motel employees, persons in the service category in the three industries and persons receiving tips, the new minimum will be one dollar an hour.

Outside the two largest counties, employees in nonfood categories will have a basic wage of 85 cents an hour.

William L. Batt, secretary of labor and industry, said the order allows a 15-cent-an-hour allowance to employers for meals and a 35-cent-an-hour allowance for tips.

For hotels not in Philadelphia or Allegheny counties the meal allowance ranges from 15 to 25 cents an hour for one to three meals a day.

The order also outlined an overtime rate of time and a half to be paid after 40 hours in the two city areas and after 42 hours elsewhere.

The Labor and Industry Department orders follow the Oct. 7 recommendations by the nine-member state board covering the hotel, motel and restaurant industry.

Public hearings on the recommendations were held Oct. 27.

A similar order was issued by the Labor and Industry Department last spring, but was overruled by the Dauphin County Court because witnesses at hearings on the order were not subject to cross examination.

Deportation Of German Stayed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Peter Christian Andreson, 21, has won a week's respite from deportation proceedings.

The young German had been ordered by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to appear Monday for deportation.

U.S. District Judge George A. Welsh halted the action Friday and set next Friday for a review of the case.

Atty. William Cohen said Andreson pleaded guilty at Mount Bethel Pa., to forging and cashing two checks totaling less than $100. The sentencing judge placed Andreson on a year's probation and stated in the record that the guilty plea "shall not serve as a basis for deportation," Cohen said.

Anderson came to the United States with his parents, a brother and two sisters. He is employed as a landscape gardener in a Stroudsburg resort hotel.

Will Not Shoot Desert Whales

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—With tongue in cheek, fighter pilots flying over the arid Southwest have given a solemn promise to shoot no whales, walruses or sea lions.

National Air Defense Command headquarters asked the 93rd Fighter-Interceptor Sqdn. to prohibit its men using sea animals as gunnery targets.

Lt. Col. Wendell Whitehouse, acting commanding officer of the 93rd, solemnly replied that his squadron had been so ordered and that no pilot "will be guilty of molesting, shooting or killing a whale, sea lion or walrus while operating from this base"—a mile above sea level and 550 miles from the nearest large body of water.

MARTHA RAYE WEDS O'SHEA

TEANECK, N.J. (AP)—A tearful Martha Raye married her bodyguard, Robert O'Shea, here Friday.

The usually raucous, energetic comedienne quietly took the vows at a brief ceremony conducted by Mayor August Hannibal in his modest home.

It was the sixth marriage for Miss Raye, 42, and the second for O'Shea, 31, former Westport, Conn., policeman who now operates a private detective agency in New York.

O'Shea spoke softly and movie star Joan Crawford stood quietly as matron of honor as did her husband, Alfred Steele, chairman of the board of Pepsi-Cola, who was best man.

But all the rest was like a Martha Raye extravaganza. A battery of nearly two-score cameramen found a chink in Mayor Hannibal's front door and marched in fired away all during the ceremony.

Only six reporters had been allowed entry before the photographers found the way. When the lensmen invaded, Hannibal shrugged his shoulders and went on with the business anyway.

Kaleidoscopic Explanations For Results Of Tuesday Vote

By ED CREAHER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A candidate's flashing smile... a lingering memory of past scandals... a worker out of a job... a boss who hated unions... a candidate who worked around the clock... another who sat on his chair cushion... split party organizations... John Foster Dulles.

Put them all together, add your own reason for voting as you did, throw in a couple of other factors at random and you have the kaleidoscopic explanation for Tuesday's election results.

Unquestionably there were some tides of opinion felt throughout most of the nation: the normal midterm wish for a change; some dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration's leadership or lack of it; strong union activity.

Different Results

But in hardly any two states or congressional districts was the story the same. Sometimes identical factors produced opposite results.

This is shown by on-the-spot reports from Associated Press Bureaus in nine states which had contests of more than usual interest. The reports point to local men and local conditions more than to national issues as the determinants of victory or defeat.

Running down the list of these states:

NEW YORK—Biggest single factor undoubtedly was the emergence of Nelson A. Rockefeller as a spectacularly popular figure, a millionaire with a million-dollar smile, who came down from his skyscraper office, mingled with the voters, patted babies' heads, and beat the headlines off his Democratic opponent, Gov. Averell Harriman.

"Rocky"—a nickname that would have appalled grandfather John D.—whisked Rep. Kenneth B. Keating into the Senate on his coattails. Ample campaign funds didn't hurt, of course.

Other Postmortems

CALIFORNIA—Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is well enough liked, but no glamor boy on the Rockefeller scale. Still, he won the governorship overwhelmingly for the Democrats, in large part because (1) his opponent, Sen. William F. Knowland, favored a right-to-work law and the unions mobilized to beat him, and (2) there was widespread resentment of the political byplay which forced GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to abandon reelection hopes and run for the Senate instead. Knight lost too—to Rep. Clair Engle. A Knowland-Knight feud hurt both men.

ARIZONA—Much union activity here too—against conservative Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater. But a lot of it came from outside the state and a good many voters resented it. Besides, Goldwater waged a far more vigorous campaign than his opponent, Gov. Ernest McFarland. Result: Goldwater won and the Democratic tide was washed back again.

NEW YORK (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller's thumping gubernatorial victory was aided by a significant increase in support for the Republican candidate by voters of Negro, Jewish and Puerto Rican descent in New York City.

This was attributed in large measure to Rockefeller's personal appeal, since there was no issue of civil rights or related matters in the election campaign.

Rockefeller and his Democratic opponent, Gov. Averell Harriman, hold similar views on such questions—each being a strong backer of civil rights.

FORMER WILD DOG MAVERICK IN LUXURY NOW

By RALPH DIGHTON

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The monsters finally got him—then it turned out they were more like angels.

That's the way it was with Maverick, the stray Doberman Pinscher who eluded baited traps and nets for four years. He almost drove the dogcatcher crazy before he was shot down with a tranquilizer dart.

He went to sleep and woke up in a cage. The two-legged beings who had harassed him all those years came to look and marvel and bid for the right to own him.

Close To Heaven

One day the cage door opened and Maverick was driven away to a place that must be pretty close to a dog's idea of heaven.

He has his own bedroom, with an oil painting above his king-size bed—all he can eat, three times a day. And he has two king-size playmates, Afghans Sheba and Sahib, to teach him the ways of civilization.

"Not that he needs much teaching," says his mistress, Mrs. Doris Crown, who paid $130 for Maverick at an auction last month. "It's not training that he needs, but pampering, and he's getting it."

Quite A Change

Life with Doris and Harry Crown is quite a change for Maverick, who used to sleep in alleys and raid garbage pails.

On the other hand, life with Maverick is quite a change for the Crowns.

"It's almost grounds for divorce," says Doris, a tall, attractive blonde. She said her husband sometimes pays more attention to the dog than he does to her.

Despite some inconveniences, however, the Crowns figure Maverick is worth far more than he cost.

They're Healthier Now

"We've had to give up our social life," says Doris. "You can't imagine how much money we've saved that way. And Harry has had to give up cigars because Maverick doesn't like them."

Doris and Harry have found they are healthier since Maverick came. Every morning and evening they take the dog for a stroll around their 2½-acre estate. It's the only way they can get him to exercise.

Maverick has attached himself

$100,000 Loss In Lumber Yard Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An early morning fire Friday partially destroyed the big yard of the Clairton Commercial Lumber Co. in nearby Clairton.

A company official estimated the loss at about $100,000.

The cause of the fire, which broke out shortly before 3 a.m., was not determined.

Huge clouds of smoke hung over the area. It was not until 3 a.m. that the blaze was pronounced under control. Firemen said some of the lumber would burn throughout the day.

The Story Behind The Book

The following is the first in a series of pieces on "The Story Behind the Book," background information on current books.

This piece deals with "The Ugly American," by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick, which is published by W. W. Norton & Company, Inc.

"When two writers find themselves in furious accord, the result might be nothing but wind and talk, or again it could be as explosively provocative and stimulating as 'The Ugly American,' to be distributed this month by the Book-of-the-Month Club, as a double selection with Roger Vailand's 'The Law.'

"Captain William J. Lederer, USN, first met Eugene Burdick about ten years ago, but it wasn't until they met again in Honolulu, during the summer of 1957, and each found the other to be as excited and outraged as he himself was by the face the United States presents to Southeast Asia, that the idea to collaborate on a book was born.

Men Of Concern

"Captain Lederer has been concerned about the results of our diplomacy for more than ten years. During this period he has served as special assistant to the commander-in-chief, Pacific, and in his official capacity has made more than thirty trips to Southeast Asia. While there he conferred with leaders of the various countries, but learned more from bartenders and such: 'They usually know what's happening about two months before anyone else.'

"Political science has been Burdick's career. He is presently assistant professor of political theory at the University of California, specializing in a study of the 'acquisition and maintenance of national power.' As a result, for many years he has closely followed the Asian scene, where national power frequently has

YOUNG GROOM STEALS $1,400 AND IS CAUGHT

CHICAGO (AP)—A young newlywed took a flyer at a holdup in Grand Rapids, Mich., Thursday, chartered an airplane to Chicago and two minutes after landing was captured by police.

The captive, Walter Molenkamp, 19, was carrying a revolver in a shoulder holster but he surrendered meekly when he saw four detectives, revolvers in hand, rush at him.

Molenkamp, astonished at the reception, quickly admitted he had obtained $1,400 in a holdup of a Grand Rapids gas station.

"Needed Money Badly"

"I was desperate for money," he told Detectives James Riley and Mike McCarthy. "I got married last Tuesday and I only make 90 cents an hour at my job as a car hop. I had just needed the money badly and thought I'd take a flyer at the holdup."

The pilot, Robert C. Gable, also was startled when the policemen surrounded the plane. He was unaware that his lone passenger, who had paid $69 for the 200-mile flight, was a fugitive.

"The only thing we talked about was how he could get a scheduled airliner to Clovis, N.M.," Gable shifted from one party to another.

A Problem Of Logistics

"In temperament and conviction the two men are an ideal team. However, deciding to write a book together is one thing, doing it another. At the outset they faced a problem of logistics. Captain Lederer, a graduate of Annapolis in the class of '36, was stationed at Pearl Harbor. Burdick lived in Berkeley, California, near the university. But this separation proved to be more of a help than a handicap, for Lederer is a slow craftsman, who writes and rewrites, agonizing over each word, while Burdick writes almost as fast as he talks.

"It was just as well they couldn't settle down in the same room to work together. Captain Lederer remained in Hawaii, and Burdick stayed in Berkeley, each recording his work on tape. The recordings were shuttled back and forth across the Pacific by air. At a final week-long conference in Honolulu, with the help of four stenographers and almost as much black coffee as there had previously been water between them, the manuscript was pounded into shape."

DEMOCRATS PLEGGED TO GO HALF WAY

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) pledged victorious Democrats Friday to meet President Eisenhower at least halfway to avoid partisan warfare in the two years ahead.

The Senate majority leader said that a nation "cannot exist in the field of foreign affairs and defense when it speaks with two voices."

At the same time, Johnson sketched the broad outlines of a 12-point legislative program, some parts of which are certain to draw Eisenhower's fire.

Johnson also took obvious note of Eisenhower's campaign speeches calling some Democrats spend-thrifts, radicals, boondogglers and gloomdoggles, but said his party would not seek revenge.

"Every campaign, of course, produces its exaggerations and its heated remarks," said Johnson, who with House Speaker Sam Rayburn will lead the next Congress. "Some people will say things—when they see a few votes fading away—which they would never say upon reflection."

Johnson's speech was prepared for a Texas Business Education Day at Big Spring, Tex. Copies of his address, his first since Tuesday's elections greatly increased Democratic congressional strength, were given out at Johnson's Capitol office.

Disagreements Ahead

When the Democrats agree with the President, they will try to support him, Johnson said, and when they disagree, they will try to present constructive alternatives.

Some of the proposals Johnson outlined today appeared certain to win opposition from Eisenhower.

RAIL OFFICIAL KILLED IN CRASH

MERCER, Pa. (AP)—A 46-year-old Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad official was killed late Thursday afternoon as his auto swerved from Route 58 and struck a tree about two miles north of Mercer.

He was Lloyd Dewayne Shelley, of Greenville, assistant engineer for the railroad. Shelley was en route home from the River Valley section near Tarentum where he had completed final inspection of water lines in connection with the new sintering plant of U. S. Steel Corp. at Saxenburg.

Shelley, a native of Uniontown, was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. He had been with the Bessemer & Lake Erie since 1941 and prior to that had worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

who re-emphasized at a Wednesday news conference what he called the dangers of reckless spending.

Without specifying what he had in mind, Johnson called for a new farm program, saying, "There is something wrong when the government must spend 53 cents for every net dollar the farmer takes in."

No Change Planned

Eisenhower told reporters Wednesday he contemplated no change in the administration's farm policy.

Johnson called for legislation to help areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower vetoed an area development bill passed at the last session which far exceeded his own recommended program.

The senator called for stepped-up water development in the West, a lowering of interest rates he said are slowing down economic growth, a "bold housing program which will set as its goal a home for every American family" and an expanded airport building program.

FIX CAUSE OF TRAIN TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission said Friday a failure to obey signals caused the plunge of a Jersey Central commuter train into Newark Bay Sept. 15. The engineer and 47 others died.

The commission recommended that Central Railroad Co. of New Jersey equip the bay bridge at Elizabeth, N.J., with either an automatic speed control or automatic train-stop system.

In September's disaster, the report said, the train was speeded up after going by a restricted speed signal and then passed a stop signal.

"It is very probable," the ICC said, "that if movements over the bridge had been protected by an automatic train-stop system of any of the many types now in service, the accident would have been averted."

In line with a final autopsy report by the Jersey City Medical Center, the commission said the engineer, Lloyd Wilburn, 63, of Redbank, N.J., died of drowning.

STRIKE CLOSES BODY FACTORY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Fisher Body division plant of General Motors Corp. at West Mifflin—hit frequently by labor disputes—was closed again Friday by a strike. Some 1,400 workers were idled in a dispute reportedly involving the suspension of one man. The walkout began last night and pickets were at the gates this morning.

There was no immediate comment from the company.

John McCarrell, president of Local 544, United Auto Workers, said the men struck in a show-down over a company policy he declared has been increasing. This alleged policy involves suspension of workers without going through grievance channels, he added.

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Ballymoss, the Irish sensation in next Tuesday's International race, is a horse snob.

Vincent O'Brien, his trainer, was asked whether he used work horses to lead Ballymoss on or off the track.

"No, he shies away from them," said O'Brien. "He won't have anything to do with less than a thoroughbred."

2 Pennsy Senators Confer On Program

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvania's two United States senators met Thursday and worked out a three-point federal program for Philadelphia.

It was the first meeting of Republican Hugh Scott and Democrat Joseph Clark since Scott's election to the Senate Tuesday.

They talked for an hour and then announced they had agreed to press for:

Federal funds to improve local roads and begin construction of the Delaware Expressway immediately.

Federal funds to improve the port and especially deepen the Delaware River channel.

Federal aid for slum clearance and housing.

The man on whom Stevenson based his Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde dual personality was a neighbor of his, Deacon Brodie. He was a carpenter in the day time and a burglar after dark.

Six Ways the Dale Carnegie
Course Will Help You

1. Develop courage and self-confidence, destroy fear, eliminate feelings of inferiority.

2. Develop the ability to speak easily and effectively to individuals and groups, in business, clubs and other organizations.

3. Increase your income. A poll of a group of graduates revealed that 71% of the group reported increases in income while they were taking the Dale Carnegie Course, or within a year afterward.

4. Increase your poise, polish and personal force, both in business interviews and in social contacts.

5. "Sell" yourself, your services, your product, your ideas, your enthusiasm to those with whom you come in contact.

6. Win more friends by applying the principles set forth in the book, HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE.
